

Fight in the Dog in association with United Agents proudly presents:

I Spy With My Little Eye Something Beginning With Why Have You Been Sleeping With My Wife: A Play by Christopher Bliss

(Photographer: Suki Dhanda)

Soho Theatre: 23 – 27 April 2019: 8.30pm

“The worst play in the world”

★★★★ The Skinny

“Bliss’ story is preposterous”

★★★★ The List

“It’s actually a miracle that Bliss’s stream of non-sequiturs eventually arrange themselves into a coherent story”

★★★★ FEST

Rob Carter returns to the Soho Theatre, with his cult-hit creation Christopher Bliss.

This time around, Christopher has written, directed and starred in his first ever play – and is bringing both of his friends along to help him (played by Joanna Griffin and Ryan Lane). The self-proclaimed ‘writer-in-residence in my very own residence’, Christopher Bliss is loveably deluded. Unfazed by the fact he’s never seen a play in his life, he confidently throws himself into his theatrical debut.

The play itself, I Spy With My Little Eye Something Beginning With Why Have You Been Sleeping With My Wife, is a story of murder, adultery and Post Office rivalry. Like a stage version of The Room, the writing is endearingly dreadful, and the audience revels in egging on this rural oddball as he attempts to change the face of modern theatre.

You can contact Christopher Bliss directly on 07751 700154, and he'll be happy to pass on any of his unearned wisdom to aspiring writers.

Award-winning actor Rob Carter's beloved Christopher Bliss character has previously seen success with Writing Wrongs, which was heralded as one of the treasures of the 2017 Edinburgh Fringe by critics and audiences alike. Nominated for Best Show at the 2018 Leicester Comedy Festival, the show went on to a London transfer before becoming the basis for the wildly successful short film Handcuffs For Poltergeists, starring Rob Carter, Ben Ashenden and Ellie White.

A Cambridge Footlights alumnus, Rob has won the Musical Comedy Award and has been a finalist in the BBC New Comedy Award. Since then he has gone on to appear in Fresh Meat, Peep Show and Siblings, and is currently starring in CBBC's comedy series Danny & Mick.

Directed by Matt Peover (Mr Swallow Houdini, Jayde Adams, Nick Helm).

What the press have said about I Spy With My Little Eye Something Beginning With Why Have You Been Sleeping With My Wife:

"Rob Carter is definitely one to watch in every sense of the word"

★★★★ Entertainment Focus

"First-rate character comedy show"

★★★★ The List

"A fantastic laugh-a-minute hour"

★★★★ The National Student

What the press have said about Rob Carter:

"This is how character comedy should be done."

Chortle

"One of the best character shows we've seen for a long time."

British Comedy Guide

"A ludicrously diverse performer, Rob Carter is unquestionably worth your time"

Three Weeks

Listings Information:

Dates: 23rd – 27th April 2019

Show: I Spy With My Little Eye Something Beginning With Why Have You Been Sleeping With My Wife:
A Play By Christopher Bliss

Venue: Soho Theatre

Address: 21 Dean Street, London, W1D 3NE

Time: 8:30pm

Price: £11 - £16

Box Office: www.sohotheatre.com/ / 020 7478 0100

For more information please contact Gaby Jerrard / Claire Hoyda / Matthew Christian at gaby@gabyjerrardpr.com / claire@gabyjerrardpr.com / matthew@gabyjerrardpr.com 020 7690 0006